Ra moves to Taos

In September, Ra returned to Taos to give another of his marvelous professional trainings. This year, however, he brought his family with him to make Taos their home. We feel deeply honored by his confidence in us and privileged to have him so available. With his advice and support literally just around the corner, we look forward to building the center of Human Design and its school here in Taos and to continue the work of building a strong organization to promote the Human Design System in the world.

New Sun Services

New Sun Services America is five years old now and we are very pleased with the progress made. Starting from nothing, we managed to establish a large and ever faster growing base of clients, an exciting educational program and a sizable, rapidly expanding inventory of educational tapes, books and tools. We are so busy in fact (still just Zeno and Chaitanyo) that we're looking at adding permanent staff and train our right hands by next year. This will allow us time to develop some projects that have been waiting, some for years by now. It's very exciting.

We love this work and its challenges. The Human Design System at the center of our lives has allowed us to be ourselves. This is a lot to be grateful for. We also thank all of you who are attracted to this knowledge for your support that has enabled Human Design to spread and the business to grow.

Analyst education

One of our main concerns has been and still is the education of able Human Design analysts. The Human Design System is logical and the reading of a chart a learnable formula. A Human Design analyst is nothing more than a mechanic, with the job to describe someone's Design in simple, straightforward and understandable terms, just to tell, not to teach or correct.

At this time, all analysts in America are educated and licensed only to give individual readings; no Rave returns or relationship readings, no study groups or trainings. The proper education will be offered only in the coming years. A few people in a hurry disregard the requirements and that's who Ra refers to in his message.

The Spring training schedule brings continued analyst

A Message from Ra

This past August in Austria, I completed my teaching program with a group of European students, analysts who began their Human Design education in 1993. With this first generation properly prepared, I felt assured in being able to focus my attention elsewhere. In late September, I arrived with my family to settle in Taos, the home of Human Design in America.

New Sun Services America and the profound dedication of Zeno and Chaitanyo have resulted in a quality-oriented educational organization that has impressed me. I am here because this organization is the standard for the future of Human Design education.

It takes many years of education, experimentation and experience to develop the best possible representatives of this knowledge. I am saddened to hear of American analysts with truly minimal training who are passing themselves off as authorities and teachers; who ignore both copyright and organization requirements. I would like to remind those of you who complain and conspire out of a professed love of Design, that had it not been for NSSA, you would not have met this knowledge and its immeasurable gift to you.

Perhaps my being here and the expansion of the educational program in the coming years will reinforce the importance of properly planting this seed so that it may flourish for the benefit of the children of tomorrow.

I look forward to working closely with New Sun Services America and American analysts for the continued growth of Human Design.

education with a class to hone individual reading skills and a preparation day for analysts who want to participate in Relationship Analysis classes in the year 2000. Aspiring analysts have the next opportunity to take the Analyst training in January. It has been expanded to four days, with a day of Ra on giving readings.

Special Basic training in Taos

The Human Design School Basic training, with some revisions, is still the same as it was in 1994. Of course, the basics don't really change, but those of us involved have learned more about teaching effectively, so an overhaul of the training is now in progress.

The Taos training in December gives us an opportunity to test an extended version, featuring the possibility for students to round out their Basic the next day with Ra lecturing about the four types and authority.

The Advanced training

Absorbing basic Human Design knowledge takes time. Diligent study of charts, books and ephemeris is needed. The Advanced training is a correspondence course designed to help you in that process. Guided by Zeno's voice (and Ra's as a guest) on tape you work through a book with illustrations and exercises. To become more fluent in Human Design language you practice fitting the keynotes together by applying Rave circuitry and the streams of awareness. This completion of Basic knowledge prepares you well for the Analyst training and all professional classes with Ra.

come to expect a great learning experience and an astonishing depth in the continuing ongoing unfolding of this knowledge. 1999 brings courses on all the channels, two in Spring; the rest in Fall. These classes are open to Advanced students.

With Ra living here, we can add short classes on various topics at different levels of education to the already intriguing schedule, like those on December 15 and February 1. There's more to come. For the most up to date schedule see www.humandesigntsystem.com.
